[illegible] PAPER OF THE STATE

MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 13, 186[illegible]

The State Made Up

The little knot of chronic office seekers who hover about the State Capital and depend on manipulation and intrigue to secure them places which will afford salaries and pickings to feed their perpetual hunger, got to work again some time ago and have now fully made up and 'slated' the political ledger for the coming year. In other words they have canvassed the whole matter of our next political campaign, have assigned each one of their members to his place and designated for him the office he is to hold. They are now silently working in several counties, resorting to all manner of shifts and bargains in order to gain strength and numbers so as to enable them to accomplish their ends. The Union party of the State feels itself deeply obliged to these tricksters and beggarly schemers for the trouble they are taking to serve the dear people. These very disinterested fellows will find, however, that their services can be dispensed with with no more loss to the country than will accrue from turning them loose to live in idleness among more industrious men, and that when the time comes for action, the mass of the Union party will prefer to choose its own and the State's servants, rather than to have these functionaries thrust officiously upon both the State and party.

The poor political moths that flutter in the feeble light which glimmers about the Oregon Statesman, seem to have utterly forgotten that there is any world beyond the immediate circle in which they exist. Within this limited sphere they are always found; nor can they ever be actuated by a single motive which lies outside of their own puny narrow world.

Leaving indirect narrative, we come to speak more in detail of the aims and objects of the politicians' party. Already they have named all their candidates for the June election, taking them without exception, and with their usual unanimity, from their own self-admiring circle. There is to be a considerable sprinkling of "Democracy," not to say Copperheadism in the party they are busily forming. There is but a single member of the old Republican party among the clique's slate. The balance of the ticket is made up of such men as Hon. Harding, Nesmith, and others of like feather, or such as they can select. (We beg to digress right here for the purpose of asking the Statesman, that "staunch Union journal"—as long as patronage lasts—to publish Nesmith's McClellan letter of last fall, and underneath it, its own "leader" of a few weeks ago in which it fully, and with much puffery, endorsed the man.) Most of the leading offices of the State are to be filled with mean Copperheads or reconstructed "Democrats"—at least this is the plan. To crown the whole work, and to supply a suitable figure to stand at the head of this imposing array of self-installed functionaries, Nesmith, our versatile (volatile?) Senator, the man who supported the pigmy McClellan against noble Abraham Lincoln, is to be re-elected to his present position! This part of the programme, as well as some of the other details, is to be kept profoundly secret until after a Legislature that can be manipulated by the politicians, shall have been chosen. But should the Union party of the State repudiate the counsels of the self-aggrandizing plotters, as it surely will, then we are to have a small, a very small, "bolt" among us, at the head of which the Statesman will be found. The little group of rest[less] placemen will then go over into the "Democratic" camp, and we shall hear no more of them until, in their clamor for office, they bring confusion into the counsels of that party—a thing they will surely do, and that ere long.

The above is a small part of the Salem programme. The remainder will be given to the public in time.

Wirz.—From dispatches this morning it is to be inferred that the President has approved the sentence of the Military Court in the case of Wirz, and that the execution of this most execrable and heartless of all monsters, has, ere this, probably taken place. The annals of all time do not afford a single parallel to the unnatural wickedness of this accursed murderer of fifteen thousand defenceless men. His crimes were so great that his death could not half appease the demands of justice. Like that of Booth, his vile body should be put out of human sight forever. The question now is, shall his superiors escape punishment? Shall those on whose heads the principal guilt rests, not be called to account? Horrible a monster as Wirz was, he was no worse, nor even so bad as those under whose usurped authority he acted. If they are to go free, the execution of this wretched though pliant and willing instrument, was a wrong.

Students for Gen. Lee's College.—A late number of the New York Day Book has an article which the Oregon Reporter copies with approbation, insisting that the proper way to insure the growth and final triumph of "healthy 'Democratic' principles," is to send our young men from the North to the Colleges of Virginia to be educated. Wise and hopeful suggestion! Who so well qualified to inculcate the principles of pure "Democracy" as that "eminent Virginian," Gen. Lee, now President of Washington College at Lexington? The Reporter wants to supply him and his College with a thousand Northern students this fall. Wonder if some of the Copperhead youths of this State could not be induced to go to Washington College to receive instruction from the "sterling Democrat" who presides there? Hurry Oregon's share of the thousand up and send them along. In due time they will be fitted for "treasons, stratagems and spoils."

"Democratic" Literature.—Astounded and horrified at the fact that several divorces have recently been granted in New York city, Mr. Mahony of the Reporter, sees in this circumstance another opportunity for a blow at the "monster Abolitionism," which has (it we may believe his high authority) caused throughout the country a complete abandonment of all rectitude and morality. Accordingly the Reporter discourses in the following lofty strain of moral indignation:

> [illegible]

Jeff. Davis writes to his counsel that he don't know why he was imprisoned or why he is to be tried. Already, in anticipation of arraignment, he asserts his innocence. In speaking of a similar asseveration of innocence on the part of a person guilty of treason, one of Shakespeare's characters exclaims:

> [illegible]

When will the country get rid of the public services of Wm. H. Seward, and allow him to seek the quiet of private life?—[illegible]

The country will not immediately be deprived of his services unless some other "sturdy Democrat" should be more successful in the attempt to take him off than Payne proved to be.

Pacific University.—We are informed by President Marsh that Mr. O. H. Harpending has been appointed Professor of Natural Science in the Pacific University. Professor H. is a graduate of Rutgers College, New Jersey, and is spoken of as a highly accomplished scholar.

Summit District

We confess that we feel proud when we take our pen in hand to write about Summit District, Madison county. It is, we venture to say, as rich a quartz district as can be found in any territory at this late and few can compare with it except at manifest disadvantage. There is no [illegible] and we challenge all men interested in lode mining, to a practical examination of the grounds on which we base our assertion. We paid a visit to this section which is [illegible] with lodges [illegible] promise, whose names is legion, but it is our intention not to speak only of those which we actually saw [illegible] that occasion in a greater or less state of development.

The Idaho Gold and Silver Mining Company under the able superintendence of Charles M. Davis have between forty and fifty hands at work erecting their machinery which is being placed at the foot of the far famed Lucas lead. The mill is to be worked by a forty horse power engine driving twelve stamps and there are forty Bart[illegible] pans attached. Mr. Davis tells us that the apparatus will be in operation in about three weeks time.

The Upper Missouri and Prospect Company, which is composed of some of the best quartz men of the Territory with a large capital, have made some very fine discoveries and are now employed in the improvement of their property. Early next spring their forty eight stamp mill will be ready to work. We were shown some quartz from the Joe Morse lode, which is owned by this company and is named in honor of one of the New York members of the association. The gold was visible in a number of pieces in large flakes. In addition to this rich deposit the Company own the Knox, the Illinois, the Murdell and several other fine veins. The Knox presents a crevice six feet wide, the Illinois measures nine feet between the wall rock, and the Gunboat four feet.

The Golden Gate Company have struck the largest ledge yet found in the District, the celebrated Cavarone. This monster crevice is said to be thirty five feet in width, all paying ore. The shaft now being sunk on it measures four [illegible] feet.

The only lodge which has been practically worked so as to return a regular dividend to the owners is the Oro Cache, which for a long time carried the reputation of the District on its shoulders. The crevice varies in width from two and a half to four feet, but descends perpendicularly. The whole length of the discovery claim is opened to a depth of from thirty five to eighty feet. T. Connor—the owner of part of this claim has a straight shaft, 8x10 and over 30 feet deep. But little work is in progress on this ledge at the present time. The homemade little water mill of the Summit Company, situated on Batchelor Gulch, which has hitherto done all the crushing, exhibits "A general flavor of mild decay." Mr. Connor will bring a mill with him from the States, on his return next spring, when operations will be resumed with vigor. On No. 2 (south) on this lode the crevice has been struck by W. Hughes at a depth of ten feet, and the ore is apparently as rich as that taken from the Discovery.

A body of twenty five men, under the designation of the Seneca Falls Mill Company, are erecting a twenty four stamp mill in the neighborhood of the little water mill in Bachelor's Gulch.

The Yankee Blade is another very fine lode situated about half a mile south of the Lucas. It has a well defined crevice, of paying ore, six feet in width, and a shaft fifty one feet deep on the Discovery. The lead is owned by the Chrysolite Gold and Silver Mining Company, and being a "sure thing" is much thought of.

Having an eye to our return home before dark we found that the Sun was telegraphing "to horse," and we cantered down the gulch, highly gratified with the indications of present and future prosperity, which are visible in all directions. It is our intention to revisit this locality, and to report the progress made in developing the hidden wealth which lies in every hill in this auriferous region.—Montana Post, Oct. 21.

Observations in the Willamette Valley

We clip the following from the Oregon correspondence of the S. F. Pacific:

The population of the Willamette Valley is constantly increasing by immigration. Towns and neighborhoods that were half depopulated a year ago are filling up with new comers; and this increase, coming as it does from various portions of the Union, is sure to modify and influence the elements of society heretofore existing. Real estate changes hands more frequently than before—and in one respect we think these changes are gradually working a better state of things in the country population. A great difficulty has always existed in the matter of schools, on account of the section and half section farms, causing a sparse population, and the difficulty has been increased by the fact that the more wealthy farmers have frequently moved to some of the towns a part of the year on purpose to send their children to school, making it still harder for those that remain.

But there is one element of the incoming population—and we fear a somewhat extensive one, too—that gives no hope of any real benefit in the matter of schools or churches. We refer to that class of men who have sympathized with, and many of them participated in, the rebellion. From these we have little to expect and much to fear. Many of them regard schools as rather a "Yankee institution," unless perchance they find one taught by a secessionist. They seldom go to church, except it be to criticise and find fault with the "christianity of the present day" as being "so thoroughly corrupted with politics that they will have nothing to do with it." The whole class is very well represented as to their ideas of what is proper in religious teaching by the remark of a good old Democrat, who being in a strange place went to hear the rector of the parish and was so highly pleased with him, that he took occasion to form his acquaintance and compliment him very highly for his excellent sermon. He tried to tell him that he was highly pleased because he excluded politics from his ministrations. But being a little embarrassed he very likely approached as near the truth when he said, "I like to hear such sermons, for you neither preach religion nor politics!"

Trial of Capt. Wirtz.—Very little testimony was taken before the Wirtz Court-martial on the on the 7th of October. Among the witnesses was Joseph Jones, Professor of Chemistry in the Medical College of Georgia, who produced a report concerning the diseases in the Andersonville pen which he made by permission of the rebel authorities, depicting the frightful mortality among the prisoners. He described the men as "miserable, helpless and abject in the extreme," it being impossible to portray their horrid condition. The greater part of the day was taken up in an explanation by Judge Advocate Chipman of his reasons for refusing to permit leading rebels to testify for the defence, and a reply thereto by Mr. Baker, one of the counsel for Wirtz. The Judge Advocate said he had himself taken the responsibility of revoking subpoenas which had been granted for the appearance of certain men who were prominent in the rebellion, including Robert E. Lee, Joseph E. Johnston, Howell Cobb, rebel Secretary of the Navy Mallory, rebel Exchange Commissioner Ould and he left the Court to sanction or disapprove his action. His reason for refusing to allow these persons to testify was, that they were co-conspirators with Wirtz in the treason which had produced the sufferings and cruelties for the infliction of which the latter was being tried and therefore inadmissible on the well established principle of law that one criminal cannot testify in favor of his accomplice, though he may against him.

A New Memphis Paper.—William M. Connolly and J. C. Worsley are about to establish a new paper at Memphis, Tennessee. The journal will be called the Southern Loyalist. Its purpose will be to advance the material interests of Memphis and the South and to furnish a lively record of the fun and life of Memphis. The Southern Loyalist will advocate the principles of those who are not willing to trust the future of the country entirely in the hands of men whose treason is yet fresh in their memories and who now have very nearly the same tone in their speeches and papers as they had in 1860—with this difference that in 1860 they were bent on making slavery eternal and universal by the destruction of the American Union and now they are bent on restoring slavery under some form of peonage through the nullification of federal policy and federal authority by means of State Governments and State militia composed of amnestied but unrepentant rebels.

A Rebel Bishop Reconstructed.—In the Episcopal Convention at Philadelphia on the 7th of October the House of Bishops sent into the House of Delegates a message announcing that they had agreed to regard Bishop Wilmer of Alabama as the regularly presiding officer of that diocese overlooking the irregularities by which he was elected and consecrated, but with the understanding that his case should not be considered a precedent. Bishop Wilmer presided over the Alabama diocese during the rebellion. Hence the allusion to "irregularities."

A Disappointment.—The Call says a fire broke out among the Chinese dens on Sacramento street in San Francisco on Wednesday morning, but regrets to state that it was put out before it accomplished any benefit.

It is stated that no flag of a Vermont regiment was ever in the keeping of the enemy during the war.

President's Address to the First District Columbia Colored Regiment

Washington, Oct. 10.—The First District of Columbia Colored Regiment marched from their quarters in Campbell Hospital to the Executive Mansion where they were received by the President, who addressed them as follows:

My friends: [illegible] presenting myself before you [illegible] simply to thank you, as members of [illegible] this colored regiment which has been in the service of the country to sustain and carry its banner and its law triumphantly in every part of the [illegible]. I repeat that I appear [illegible] merely to thank you for the compliment you have paid me [illegible] to again be associated with [illegible] and your relations and those whom [illegible]. I regret I have but little to say, it being unusual in this Government and [illegible] to have [illegible] you have [illegible] shown [illegible] with patience [illegible] the cause of your country. [Cheers.] This is your country as well as anybody else's country. This is the country in which you expect to live and in which you should expect to do something by your example in civil life as you have done in the field. This country is founded upon the principle of equality, at the same time the standard by which persons are to be estimated is according to their merit and their worth, and you have deserved no doubt that [illegible] who [illegible] faithfully and honestly there is always a public judgment that will appreciate and measure out to him his proper reward. I know that there is much well calculated in this Government since the late rebellion commenced to incite the white against the black and the blacks against the white man. These are things which you should all understand, and at the same time prepare yourselves for what is before you upon the return of peace and the surrender of the armies of the country. It should be the duty of every patriot and of every one who calls himself a Christian, to remember that with the closing of the war his resentments should cease, that angry feelings should subside, and that every man should become calm and tranquil and be prepared for what is before him. This is [illegible] part of your mission. You have been engaged in the effort to sustain your country in the past, but the future is more important to you than the period in which you have just been engaged. One great question has been settled in this Government and that question is the question of slavery. The institution of slavery made war against the United States and the United States has lifted its strong arm in vindication of the Government, and in lifting that arm and appealing to the God of battles, it has been decided that the institution of slavery must go down. [Cheers.] This has been done, and the Goddess of Liberty in bearing witness over many of our battle fields since the struggle commenced has made her loftiest flight and proclaimed that liberty has been established upon a more permanent and enduring basis than heretofore. [Applause.] But this is not all, and as you have paid me the compliment to call upon me, I shall take the privilege of saying one or two words as I am before you. I repeat that is not all; when the sword is returned to its scabbard, when your arms are reversed and the olive branch of peace is extended, as I remarked before, resentment and revenge should subside. Then what is to follow you? You understand no doubt, and if you do not you cannot understand too soon that simple liberty does not mean the privilege of going into battle field or into the service of the country as a soldier. It means other things as well and now when you have laid down your arms there are other objects of equal importance before you. Now that the Government has triumphantly passed through this mighty rebellion, and fought the most gigantic battles the world ever saw, the problem is before you, and it is best that you should understand it, therefore I speak simply and plainly. Will you now, when you have returned from the Army of the United States and taken the position of citizens when you have returned to the avocations of peace, will you give evidence to the world that you are capable and competent to govern yourselves? That is what you will have to do. Liberty is not a mere idea, a more vagary, it is an idea or it is reality. When you come to examine this question of liberty you will not be mistaken in a mere idea for reality. It does not consist in idleness. Liberty does not consist in being worthless. Liberty does not consist in doing all things as we please; there can be no liberty without law in a Government of freedom and liberty; there must be law and there must be obedience and submission to the law without regard to color. [Cheers.] Liberty—and may I not call you my countrymen—liberty consists in the glorious privilege of the work of pursuing the ordinary avocations of peace with industry and with economy, and, that being done, all those who have been industrious and economical are permitted to appropriate and enjoy the products of their own labor. [Cheers.] This is one of the great blessings of freedom, and hence we might ask the question and answer it by stating that liberty means freedom to work and enjoy the products of your own labor. You will soon be mustered out of the ranks. It is for you to establish the great fact that you are fit and qualified to be free. Hence, freedom is not a mere idea, but it is something that exists in fact. Freedom is not simply the privilege to live in idleness. Liberty does not mean simply to resort to the low saloons and other places of disreputable character. Freedom and liberty do not mean that the people ought to live in licentiousness, but liberty means simply to be industrious, to be virtuous, to be upright in all our dealings and relations with men; and to those now before me, members of the First Regiment of Colored Volunteers from the District of Columbia and the Capital of the United States, I have to say that a great deal depends upon yourselves. You must give evidence that you are competent for the rights that the Government has guaranteed to you. Henceforth each and all of you must be measured according to your merit. If one man is more meritorious than the other, they cannot be equals, and he is the most exalted that is the most meritorious, without regard to color; and the idea of having a law passed in the morning that will make a white man a black man before night and a black man a white man before day is absurd. That is not the standard. It is your own conduct, it is your merit, it is the development of your own talents and of your own intellectuality and moral qualities. Let this then be your course: adopt a system of morality. And let me say one thing here, for I am going to talk plain. I have lived in a Southern State all my life, and know what has often been the case. There is one thing you must esteem higher and more supreme than almost all others, and that is the solemn contract, with all the penalties of the association of married life. Men and women should abstain from all those qualities and habits that too frequently follow a war. Inculcate among your children, as well as among your associates, notwithstanding you are just back from the army of the United States, that virtue, that merit, that intelligence are the standards to be observed and those which you are determined to maintain during your future lives. This is the way to make white men black and black men white. [Cheers.] He that is most meritorious and virtuous and intellectual and well informed must stand highest without regard to color. It is the very basis upon which heaven rests itself. Each individual takes his degree in the sublimer and more exalted regions in proportion to his merits and his virtue. Then I shall say to you on this occasion, in returning to your homes and the relations of feeling, conscious and prided [illegible] faithfully discharged your duty, returning with the determination that you will perform your duty in the future as you have in the past, abstain from all those bickerings and jealousies and revengeful feelings which too often spring up between different races.

There is a great problem before us. [illegible] as well allude to it here in this connection, and that is whether this race can be incorporated and mixed with the people of the United States, to be made a harmonious and permanent ingredient in the population. This is a problem not yet settled, but we are in the right line to do so. Having raised the [illegible] against the Government, and the Government having raised its strong right arm and struck [illegible] the ground, and that part of the problem is settled. The institution of slavery is overthrown [illegible] and that is [illegible] they have been with all the prejudices of the whites [illegible] places [illegible] the community and be made to work harmoniously and congenially in our system. [illegible] be considered. Are the digestive powers of the American [illegible] sufficient to receive this element in a new shape and digest it and make it work healthfully upon the system that has incorporated it? This is the question to be determined. Let us make the experiment and make it in good faith. If that can be done there is another problem that is before us; if we have to become a separate and distinct people, although I trust that the system can be made to work harmoniously, and that the great problem will be settled without going any further.

If it should be so that the two races cannot agree and live in peace and prosperity and the laws of Providence require that they should be separated, in that event looking to the far distant future, and trusting it may never come, Providence that works mysteriously but unerringly and constantly, will point out the way and the manner by which these people are to be separated and they are to be taken to their lands of inheritance and promise, for such an one is before them. Hence we are making the experiment. Hence let me impress upon you the importance of controlling your passions, developing intellect, and of applying your physical powers to the industrial interests of the country, and that is the true process by which this question can be settled. Be patient, persevering and forbearing and you will help to solve the problem. Make for yourselves a reputation in the cause in which you have been engaged.

While speaking to the members of this regiment, I want them to understand that so far as I am concerned I do not assume or pretend that I am stronger than the laws of the course of nature, or that I am wiser than Providence itself. It is our duty to try and discover what those great laws are which are at the foundation of all things, and having discovered what they are, conform our actions and our conduct to them and to the will of God who rules all things. He holds the destinies of nations in the palm of His hand, and He will solve the question and rescue these people from the evils that surround them. Then let us be patient, industrious and persevering. I trust what I have said may be understood and appreciated. Go to your homes and lead peaceful, prosperous and happy lives in peace with all men. Give utterance to no word which will not be creditable to yourselves and to your country.

Whereabouts of Rebel Generals.—A Southern paper gives the following account of the whereabouts of the leading officers of the late rebel army:

General Loring is in Jackson, Miss., with the intent to go to New Orleans and engage in mercantile pursuits.

General Cadmus Wilcox is [illegible] up [illegible] in New Orleans and gone into business with [illegible] Bragg.

General Joe Johnston will probably receive the appointment of President of the [illegible] Insurance Company in [illegible] Georgia.

General Hardee was the recipient in Mobile the other day of a handsome compliment in the shape of a dinner tendered him by several of the United States officers on duty at that post.

General Longstreet who arrived in Mobile a few days ago has been pardoned by the President.

General Lee has entered upon his duties as President of Washington College, Va.

[illegible] Early is an applicant for pardon.

General Forrest is reported to be managing a sawmill somewhere in the interior of Mississippi.

General Stuart, who commanded a corps in [illegible], designs going to New Orleans to practice law.

General Magruder is reported to be in Germany with his family.

General John G. Walker is in England, it is reported.

Kirby Smith, at last dates, was at Matanzas, in bad health.

General Hindman is practicing law in Mexico.

The New Orleans Picayune says: "We can hardly go now an hour on the streets [illegible] several other officers, who held the rank of Brigadier or Major General in the late Confederate army, who are hard at work in one and another branch of business. The majority of them are old residents, either of the city or the State."

Another [illegible].—Messrs. [illegible] and [illegible] Powell have purchased the French and Merino buck lot in the care of Dr. Alexander [illegible] the celebrated importer [illegible] stock, and on last Monday they clipped from them a fleece of one year's growth, which weighed fifty [illegible] The three splendid premium bucks which attracted so much attention at the late State Fair are now all owned in Linn County: one by Dr. Alexander and [illegible] Parish and one by Parish and [illegible] and the third by Mr. Martin Payne. The fleece from the three bucks weighed together one hundred and seventy two pounds and a half.—Albany Journal.

A correspondent writing from Paris in the latter part of September estimates that there are now in Europe 41,000 or 50,000 Americans and this number is being augmented daily, placing the number at 60,000 per annum, and allowing each one to spend $2,000—a very moderate estimate—we find the sum of 160,000,000 in gold taken out of the country by tourists.

U. S. Marshal's Notice.

U. S. of America, District of Oregon—ss.

Whereas, a libel has been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 4th day of November A. D. 1865, by [illegible] and W. W. Page, Esq., Proctors, against [illegible] the Cargo of the Helen W. Almy, her tackle, apparel and furniture, alleging in substance that on [illegible] A. D. 1865 said bark, the Helen W. Almy, whereof [illegible] was master, then lying at the port of San Francisco, and bound on a voyage to the port of Portland, the said libellant being owner of 22 tons of merchandise of the value of seven thousand dollars, made a contract with the master of said bark, through his agents, to convey said merchandise to the port of Portland, Oregon, in good order and condition and to deliver the same to said libellant; that the said vessel was [illegible] with said goods on board, and that the said [illegible] wholly ruined and lost to the libellant [illegible] bark now lies in the port of Portland and that the same may be disposed of according to the prayer of said libel.

Now therefore, in pursuance of the warrant under the seal of said Court, I give public notice to all persons claiming the said bark Helen W. Almy, her tackle, apparel and furniture, or in any manner interested therein, that they be and appear before the said District Court to be held in the city of Portland, on Monday, the fourth day of December next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to interpose their claims and to make their allegations in that behalf.

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

Its action is expectorant, alterative, sudorific, sedative, diaphoretic and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable medicines known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any Form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.
